Making Voluntary Contributions by Payroll Deduction

To make voluntary contributions by payroll deduction, you must be an active and contributing member of the Public Employees Pension Plan (PEPP). Employers are not required to match voluntary contributions.

This form is to be retained by the employer. Do not return this form to PEPP.

Process for making voluntary contributions for payroll deduction:

1. Complete the form and submit it to your payroll branch.
2. Your payroll branch will deduct your voluntary contribution(s) from your paycheque and forward the funds to PEPP.
3. If you change your employment from one PEPP participating employer to another, a new Voluntary Contributions by Payroll Deduction form must be completed to notify your new payroll branch.

Note: The deposit instructions for their voluntary payroll deductions will be applied to the member's account in the same manner as the required contributions. If the member wishes to change their overall deposit instructions, they will need to log onto PLANet and make the changes online or submit an Investment Option Changes form to PEPP.

Contribution Limits:

The contribution limit for your pension is the lesser of: 18% of your current year's earned income or a maximum dollar amount set by the Income Tax Act (Canada). This maximum includes all contributions made by you and your employer, on your behalf, to your pension plan. See www.cra-arc.gc.ca

Accessing Your Voluntary Contributions:

Voluntary contributions made on or after January 1, 2001 are accessible once you terminate your employment or retire. This means that when you stop working you can withdraw from PEPP any of these eligible contributions, including any return on investment they accrued. If you become re-employed with a PEPP participating employer and you have not withdrawn your voluntary contributions they will immediately become inaccessible again until your next termination date.
